Hello and welcome to our January 2022 catalogue!

People around the world are still struggling with Covid, its variants and the disruption it has caused to all our lives. Many of the artisans we work with have lost their employment due to falling orders. Many have returned to their villages, relying on agricultural income, selling vegetables or plying rickshaws in the streets. Some have died. Lockdowns and port congestion have caused disruption and delays – and who wants to buy Christmas decorations in January? Our suppliers have suffered badly, because 90% of people in developing countries are still not properly vaccinated, and social security, furlough schemes and other government support are minimal.

But it's not all doom and gloom! Through a very difficult period, our orders have kept many of our suppliers going when otherwise they would have been out of work, and many of our suppliers are very grateful for the extra orders, at a time when their other customers have often not been able to order at all. We've even taken on an extra member of staff to develop some of the new ranges you'll see in this catalogue, which is much larger than last year's, giving suppliers further extra work.

We're trying to think long-term, trying to invest in a brighter future! We want to create a fairer, sustainable world – and you, the retailers, are helping us to do this. The world is changing. More and more people are realising that the fundamental challenge of our time is the threat posed by climate change. What can we as businesses do to tackle this threat?

We suggest some answers to this problem in the following pages. But first – we want to repeat our message of HOPE, with a selection of our rainbow products, a symbol that the bad times never last forever, and we can ALL play a part in making the world a better place.

As the person responsible for many of our rainbow products, we'd like to introduce you to Yuli Sjahendra, who last May, joined our Board as our new Supplier Director. Yuli coordinates the exports from the 35 different producer groups in Bali that we buy from. She is married with one son.

Finally, thank you for your orders; we hope you enjoy all the great new products in this catalogue.

Dreamcatchers

These colourful chakra dreamcatchers are made in Bali, in a small village in the hills. And while we're talking about hope, how about these girls? Bali is a beautiful island, but it struggles with waste, especially single-use plastic bags and wrappers. Our dreamcatcher supplier, Wayan, has set up a local group called Clean and Green, and every Sunday, with the help of a few adults, this group of dedicated youngsters trawl the lanes and verges of their village cleaning up the rubbish they find. Most of it is plastic, which is swept down the hillsides by rainstorms, clogging up drains, streams, roads and rivers on its ugly way to the sea.

This mobile is from Bali. It opens out into a spiral shape and spins with a great kaleidoscopic effect, even in the gentlest of breezes.
