Our planet matters!

Sustainability is crucial for our future, and the gift industry needs to change.

Shipping goods across the oceans, using fossil fuels, is one of the main ways we contribute to global warming. It doesn't take much to change this and it's not expensive. We pay GoodShipping a small fee to neutralise our carbon emissions, by fuelling other ships (the same distance and volume) with biofuels. Through this process, we're saving about 50 tons of CO2e (WTE) each year. All our products are delivered to the UK carbon-free - ask your other suppliers if they're doing the same?

Hello Everyone

Welcome to our new January 2025 catalogue! Over the last year we've developed new products with many of our suppliers, as you will see as you look through these pages. We've got a great new selection of our popular bamboo socks (p18) and we're delighted that their supplier has now joined WFTO (World Fair Trade Organisation). Other new sustainable products include recycled tote bags, jewellery, glassware and soft toys, jute bags, patchwork clothing, rag rugs and handmade soaps, stationery and cards.

People normally think of businesses as if they're mountains, the biggest being the tallest, going down in size according to their sales, their stock market value, the number of people they employ. We don't want to be a tall mountain. We'd like to be a valley, growing crops – ideas – that spread far beyond where we live and work, and benefit the world around us. Encouraging other businesses to help tackle climate change is key to our mission, as is trading fairly with our suppliers. If you're seeing this catalogue for the first time, we'd love you to join us in this mission, by selling our products.

It's been a hard time for us recently, with two warehouse moves in two years, but we're now settled in at our new location in Wales, and we'll be doing our utmost to provide an excellent service to you in 2025. We have lots of new plans: an online 'Bali only' catalogue in April; joining Faire; and arranging online 'meet the producers' meetings so you can talk directly to some of our producers, ask them questions and hear more about their lives. We wish you the very best for 2025.

Holyland products

Our new supplier the Holy Land Handicraft Cooperative Society is based in Bethlehem, its staple product made from olive trees, a symbol of peace. War has indeed destroyed much of their livelihood as they rely on pilgrims and visitors to the Holy Land to buy their products. We ask you to support them even if only with a small order.

The wood is collected without harming the ancient trees, using prunings and sprouts from the trunks. HLHCS supports 35 producer groups bringing work to 2,000

We've campaigned against plastic bags for years, urging you to use long lasting jute bags instead. What about cotton? Even if you use it 100 times, a cotton bag may be as bad. To grow the cotton for 1 bag, you need - guess what? - 2,000 litres of water. In countries like India, hit by drought more and more as climate change worsens, water is a scarce commodity.

These bags are 100% vegan; no animals are harmed, they're water-based and AZO-free dyes are used.

They're a great alternative to single-use plastic bags and they last for years!
And they're Fair Trade too.

Jute bags

The world uses more than 500 billion plastic bags each year – that's 150 for each person on the planet! They're completely unnecessary and it's clear what we should do – use long-life bags instead, as we always used to. These jute bags are an excellent, eco-friendly option. Jute is a great fibre, fast-growing, biodegradable and recyclable. It needs far less land and water to grow than cotton, and can also be grown without pesticides.

Standard size for jute bags is 30x30x20cm

Have Your Own Bags Printed!

Shared Earth can produce bespoke designs on our jute bags for you, also on our recycled cotton tote bags. Here's how...

In 3 Easy Steps!

1.

Select a bag style, background colour and have your logo or design ready that you'd like on the front and back of the bag. You can have different artwork on the front and back of the bag; the cost only increases with additional colours.

Style 1

Landscape
32 x 42 x 12cm
Non padded handles 49cm

Style 2

Portrait
39 x 36 x 13cm
Non padded handles 49cm

Style 3

Square
30 x 30 x 20cm
Padded handles 36cm

Style 4

Landscape
32 x 42 x 18cm
Padded handles 49cm

2.

Once you've sent through your request, we'll send you a mock-up for your approval and discuss pricing and quantities. The cost is based upon the number of colours in your artwork including the background jute colour (no extra charge for natural jute) and there are no additional costs for printing or delivery.

3.

If you are happy to go ahead, we will get a sample created for your approval. Then production can begin and we'll provide you with an estimated delivery date. We keep our pricing very competitive by shipping by sea, so the lead time is usually about 4 months.

A customer says: "These have been a great way of promoting our shop and have been bought as a souvenir by lots of people who visited us for the first time especially to buy one. We had a complicated design with lots of colours but were very pleased with the end result - the screen printing quality is fantastic. It was essential to us that they were ethically traded but they are also a nice and sturdy bag, with a very reasonable price tag." Harrogate Fair Trade Shop

To discuss your requirements in more detail please don't hesitate to contact us on 01904 670321 or at sales@sharedearth.co.uk. We'll be happy to provide advice on bag style, artwork and any additional information you may need.

Why Bamboo and not cotton?
There are many reasons why bamboo viscose yarn is good for the environment.

Bamboo grows without the need for fertilisers or pesticides. It naturally requires less water (a third of the water required to grow cotton), so farmers don't need to irrigate their crop, saving water in a country where water shortages are a big problem.

Bamboo yields are ten times higher per hectare than cotton and the plant rarely needs replanting, sprouting on its own. Bamboo yarns require less dye than cotton and keep their colour for longer.

Cotton is one of the worst fabrics for the planet. Growing it uses huge amounts of water which would be used for other crops. Recycled cotton on the other hand bypasses the production stage and saves old textiles from being sent to the landfill.

GENKI

About Genki

We're delighted to be a distributor for GENKI, an eco-fashion, FairTrade label, making women's and unisex clothes from upcycled, vintage Indian silk saris. Every item is beautifully crafted, one-of-a-kind and high quality.

GENKI is against fast fashion and is a sustainable brand with bespoke, bold and vibrant pieces. The beauty of these upcycled designs is that every item has a history - this is what makes each piece unique.

Camille, the founder of Genki, is a fashion designer, keen to update the kind of 'hippy' image often associated with recycled clothing, into designs which will appeal to all. We think she's succeeded brilliantly, and her clothing will be as popular as the top-selling kantha scarves we already import from India...

GENKI doesn't define gender or specify who can wear its designs. Many of its pieces, like the popular wrap tops, can be adjusted to fit a variety of body shapes and sizes; Genki is for everybody.

Fair Trade

Genki works with independent tailors and fabric traders in Rajasthan, India, has personal relationships with everyone in the production chain, from the families who sell the recycled fabrics, to the tailors who make the clothes. The supply line is simple, personal and transparent with every item handmade with love.

Camille tries to ensure that every step of the process is kind to our planet. It's the opposite of 'fast' fashion; fabrics are sourced from local, family-run businesses, and each piece is made lovingly by hand.

The Story

Camille was inspired by her French granny and the vintage fabrics in her fascinating dressing up box. Especially silk, which she found keeps you cool in the summer and warm in the winter.

As she grew older, she found it impossible to find these vibrant colours and materials in the shops. She also became acutely aware of the damage the fast fashion industry has on the environment, and on the people involved in making the clothes we wear.

In Rajasthan, India she found herself reconnecting with the childlike glee she had going through her granny's clothes so many years before, transfixed with the idea that as each silk sari was recycled, every piece had its own personal story. She began working with different families who specialised in sourcing these silk saris, then with artisan tailors, upcycling them into beautiful new garments that were also fairly traded. Right from the start, she was keen to support small family business, pay them fairly and treat them as equal.

One of a kind silk nightwear. Vintage cuts with vintage silks! These pyjama designs are kept within the classical look with baby dolls, button-downs and cami sets!

Amazonas

We all hear about the eco aspects of the Amazon, but what about the people who live there? Most of the women who make this jewellery have problems at home with drugs or violence - almost all have sons or daughters who get involved with drugs as teenagers. Now, through collecting and cleaning seeds, helping to make this jewellery and a living for themselves - they've become clean. They're recreating a great example for their community.
