The story of Shared Earth

Street children,
New Delhi 1970's

1972 - How Shared Earth started

It began in 1972, when after leaving school, Jeremy Piercy hitch-hiked to India. Seeing the way people lived in countries like India was a shock. Yet the poorest people often seemed the most willing to share what they had. In Afghanistan for instance, a nomadic tribesman, all his possessions on his back, stopped him one day in the street – out of his rucksack came a mini-cooker and kettle and soon he was sharing a cup of tea, squatting on the pavement. Jeremy determined to repay such hospitality later in life, if he could.

Late 1970s - Fair Trade not charity

50p(aisa) is worth about 1p – enough to buy a simple meal of rice and lentils at that time in India. Would you bother to pick up 1p if you saw it in the street? In the 1970s, the Fair Trade movement was in its infancy – the message, that ongoing, fair paid work was a better response to poverty than just giving charity during famines or other emergencies

One World
York, 1986

1986 – One World opens in York

In 1986 One World opened, York's first Fair Trade shop. From the start it was also dedicated to eco values, like recycling, reducing the use of plastic and paper bags, using soft woods and sustainable raw materials.

1988-92 – expansion

The success of our York shop led to further shops opening in Leeds, Bradford, Manchester and Birmingham. In 1990, we changed our name to Shared Earth, and in 1991, incorporated, as Shared Earth Ltd.

Staff, 1990

1991 – wholesale

In 1992 we launched a range of 'Endangered Species' greetings cards, printed on recycled paper, with a simple, 4 page catalogue. This was followed by 'Animal Magic' writing sets, notebooks and T-shirts and in 1993 we exhibited for the first time at Top Drawer, London.

1993 – move to Minster Gates

In 1993 we moved from our original shop in Goodramgate, York to a location on the corner of York's busiest tourist street, Stonegate. We're still there today, with the shop on the ground and 1st floors, and our offices on the second.

1995 – we join the World Fair Trade Organisation

In 1995 Jeremy attended the conference of WFTO (then IFAT, International Federation of Fair Trade) in Maryland, USA, meeting potential new suppliers from around the world. Visits to Sri Lanka, India and Bali followed where we developed our 'Animal Magic' brand into papier mache boxes, pencils, wind chimes and other products. 2025 is the 30th anniversary of our joining WFTO

Jeremy addresses IFAT
conference, Ooty,
India, 1997

1996-2006 – wholesale grows

We visited the Philippines and started buying handmade cards and photo albums made from local grasses, leaves and dried flowers. WFTO conferences followed in India and Tanzania; by 2001 our catalogue was 48 pages and 5 years later, 156 pages, with 22 suppliers in 9 different countries, including Nepal, Vietnam, Tanzania, Peru and Guatemala

2006 – 20th anniversary

To celebrate, we opened 2 new shops in Bristol and Liverpool, where a shop run by Traidcraft was struggling. With our different product mix, we turned their loss into profit. 18 years later, in 2024, three of the original staff are still with us, and we're one of the most successful shops in Liverpool, voted best retailer in the North West and making it to the UK final in 2024

2007 – Mumbai marathon

Our suppliers and friends at Asha Handicrafts invited us to join them in the Mumbai marathon, to raise funds for their education projects... Two of us took part, raising over £12,000, including a generous donation of £5,000 from our freight agents, Action International.

2009 – Fair Trade Coffins, Cats and...

What was meant to be an account of the Mumbai marathon turned into a book, a history of Fair Trade, and Shared Earth in particular; the first book on Fair Trade written by someone involved in trading. There were two print runs and it sold about 6,000 copies. A few are still left today and can be ordered from us.

2010 -12 – global recession – disaster!

By 2011, we had 9 shops and 5 franchises, but the largest, in Birmingham, made a huge loss in 2010, due to recession, an increase in rent, and a big shift in the city centre. This forced Shared Earth Ltd (our shops) into receivership. Fortunately, our York shop and wholesale business were a separate company. We just survived, keeping our York and Liverpool shops open.

2010s – on a knife edge – and recovery

Wholesale sales halved in 2013 and 2014, but our loyal staff, the will to survive, and with customers and suppliers supporting us, we kept going. For the next 7 years our wholesale sales increased over 30% each year, this pattern only halted by Covid.

2017 – Bali

Bali artisans create an astonishing variety of crafts and in 2017 we took on Yuliana Syahlendra to coordinate our producers there. We now buy from over 30 groups, increasing our purchases from about £8,000, 10 years ago, to over £100,000 today. With our help Yuli has set up a warehouse and has been a valuable member of our Board since 2023,

Yuli and her son Michael

The climate crisis

Our support for sustainability is, we believe, a key reason for our success. No plastic; recycling; local materials are all priorities; and in 2020 we started using GoodShipping to ensure that our shipping is carbon-neutral. We offer the widest selection of recycled products in Europe and we encourage businesses everywhere to make tackling climate change a high priority.

Children at Karm Marg, home for street children, one of our suppliers

2020-I - the Covid pandemic

Helped by the furlough scheme, we kept going. Our shops were closed but web sales doubled, and we continued to order from our suppliers, developing more products in 2020-I than in any previous year. When lockdown ended, sales continued to grow and in 2022, despite Ukraine, the cost of living crisis and talk of recession, we did well. Our advice to other businesses – tackle climate change, show you care, and you will succeed!

Our team today

In 2012 we put our shops into separate companies, to minimise risk. Our Board consists of five Directors: Jeremy Piercy (MD), Paul Edmondson (Accounts), David Piercy (Wholesale), Jen Harland (Retail) and Yuli Sjahleandra (Supplier). Paul started as an Accounts Assistant in 1994; Jen as a Sales Assistant in 2006; David joined us in 2013; and Yuli joined the Board in 2021. Currently 10 people work in our office, mostly full-time, and about 20 in our shops, mostly part-time.

Warehouse problems

In the last 2 years we've had to move twice, leading to massive problems with deliveries to our customers. In June 2024 we moved to South Wales, and it's taken a while for the new staff to store and get used to our products. There should be a big improvement in our service in 2025 - we hope so anyway!

Bali connection

Our cooperation with Bali has extended further; we are now helping Yuli to set up a business, Sjahleandra Handicrafts, to supply customers globally. In October 2024 we took on our first overseas employee, in Bali, Theresia, whom Yuli is managing. She is responsible for our catalogue photography and already (see inside back cover) she has taken some stunning images!

We've had a close relationship with Yuli, our supplier in Bali, for 7 years now. She's been a Director of Shared Earth since 2021 and now, we're starting to share staff. We appointed Theresia (right) last year to coordinate photography from our suppliers around the world, for our catalogue, websites and social media. Naturally, she's started in Bali, and the photos below are some of the ones she's taken.

We've got great plans for 2025 – we've taken on 9 new producer groups, and in April, we'll be launching an online catalogue just for Bali products, including hammocks and swinging chairs; cartoon metal animals; wooden cats; colourful wooden jewellery; masks; and plaques made from recycled paint tins. We're also helping Yuli to launch her own business, Sjahleendra Handicrafts, so she can supply other customers worldwide and not just rely on us.
