Wooden stools

Designed to turbocharge the imagination of young children, our exciting new range of wooden stools has everything. Join the emergency services in their vehicles! Be a mighty robot on the move, and love the natural world and its amazing creatures!

The wood is sourced from the Samanea Saman or 'Raintree' (Acaccia or 'Monkey Pod tree) and can be recognised by its characteristically umbrella shaped canopy. Often planted by roads to give shade, it grows so quickly that it's a perfect eco friendly hardwood for furniture production.

All the stools here are 24cm high

Fairy tale tota hangings

Traditional tota hangings - strings of birds or butterflies, etc - are hung in Indian doorways to welcome guests,.

Be sure to look at our fairy tale totas. SASH1906 and SASH2907 can be used by parents or nursery teachers as part of their story-telling with young children. We have developed the designs with the artisans who have been producing Shared Earth's tota hangings for years, to bring a traditional Indian craft feel to these well-known and well loved characters.

We have also ensured there are no plastic beads ... so it's a more sustainable product. We hope you love them as much as we do.

Finger puppets at the zoo ...

Hand-knitted in Peru, these finger puppets have the cute factor and keep selling year on year.

Intercrafts Peru is the export marketing section of Central Inter-regional de Artesanos del Peru and is made up of 20 Peruvian artisan cooperatives with a membership of about 400 artisans and their families.

CIAP has also established a responsible tourism business, a savings and loan cooperative, and actively promotes Fair Trade in Peru.

Handpainted animals

This bright and colourful animal range is made in Bali from fast growing Albesia wood, which comes to maturity in only 7 or 8 years. It is often considered a 'weed' by local people. The paints used are vegetable-based.
