Kisii Stone

These earrings are made of kisii stone. We already sell some kisii stone products from Tabaka, Kenya and we thought it would be great to introduce some jewellery. Every earring is designed in-house and highly skilled artisans hand paint them.

Holyland products

The Holy Land Handicraft Cooperative Society is based in Bethlehem, its staple product made from olive trees, a symbol of peace. War has indeed destroyed much of their livelihood as they rely on pilgrims and visitors to the Holy Land to buy their products. We ask you to support them even if only with a small order.

The wood is collected without harming the ancient trees, using prunings and sprouts from the trunks. HLHCS supports 35 producer groups bringing work to 2,000 artisans and their families.

These pendants are made from the Sonokeling tree (Indian rosewood). Only small branches are used so no harm is done to the environment. It's a one-woman business run by Nimade Mariyati, in a rural area of Bali. She has three children, her husband works in the fields and making this jewellery helps her to support her family.
